

Tues 12/22

The Funny thing is I'm still alive all kind of ups and downs in my life family don't like me thank I still am messing up but all and all I really just need someone to back me up and give me in getting my health right and this has happen by the help of Home Sweet Home

* what got me here was *

was a friend, one that you wouldn't thank would reach out in all kinds of ways make? * you thank *

when I started this journey

I did not want to except I had a dissablaty I developed Exstream hammer TOE completely making me try working my self in to work Ready Shape

1 2 3 yrs go by and my body kept gett worse in my mind I thought I figured it out but I didn't.

For a while I choose to use Drugs to make the pain go away on and off. I moved around

State to State in which I've had auzsam jobs and a lot of good people to work for. I've seemed to loose trust in my family a lot ~~for~~ why I couldn't say never mind to my health. It's go by still loosing intress in my self and then one day that was it I decided it time for a change. Take my friends advice and came to Bloomington to check out HSHM.

At first I was on good didnt know how to act because I've been let down so much in life no matter what I said or done family friends turned compl on me I gotten to the point That I couldn't work and end up asking my self why am I here. Why does GOD want me to live but as I slowly opened up and got the right help from staff and even the people staying here I finally got my medical on track and a number of surgeons and am finally feeling better about my self

IF IT WASNT FOR HSHM none of these possitive though ~~would not~~ I have coming from my mind would not be possible until you hit part of life where nothing is working out or Drugs have taken over or homelessness just remember you are not worthless people do care HSHM care and they really do AND how I say it I'm not worthless I'm just going through one

THANK YOU GUYS
